Mental Health Information

In the event that information released to OHCOBR constitutes mental health information protected under the District of Columbia Mental Health Act of 1978:

> This information has been disclosed to OHCOBR from records whose confidentiality is protected by District of Columbia law. The unauthorized disclosure or redisclosure of mental health information violates the provisions of the District of Columbia Mental Health Information Act of 1978. Disclosure or redisclosure may be made pursuant to a valid authorization by the client or as provided in Titles III and IV of the Act. The Act provides for civil damage and criminal penalties for violations.
> *You have the right to inspect your record of mental health information.

Drug and Alcohol Abuse Information

In the event that information released to OHCOBR is protected by the HHS Confidentiality of Alcohol and Drug Abuse Patient Records regulations:

> This information has been disclosed to OHCOBR from records protected by Federal confidentiality rules (42 C.F.R. Part 2). The federal rules prohibit OHCOBR from making any further disclosure of this information unless further disclosure is expressly permitted by the written consent of the person to whom it pertains or as otherwise permitted by 42 C.F.R. Part 2. A general authorization for the release of medical or other information is NOT sufficient for this purpose. The federal rules restrict any use of the information to criminally investigate or prosecute any alcohol or drug abuse patient.

HIV/AIDS-Related Information

In the event that information released to OHCOBR constitutes confidential HIV/AIDS-related information protected under District of Columbia law:

This information has been disclosed to OHCOBR from records whose confidentiality is protected by District of Columbia law. District of Columbia law prohibits OHCOBR from making any further disclosure of it without the specific written consent of the person to whom it pertains, or as otherwise permitted by said law. A general authorization for the release of medical or other information is NOT sufficient for this purpose.
